

Peter Bota

peterbota00@yahoo.com

My name is Peter Bota and I am a high school student interning in Dr. Lin's laboratory, mainly during the summer. My principal interest is in the study of memory and how emotions can affect cognitive capability. In my spare time, I am also very fond of reading about the history and culture of the ancient Greeks and Romans, and how that information can be applied in considering modern civilization, which is largely descended from those civilizations.