Assignment

Any and all assignments related to the study of individual peoples and cultures

ARG > Academic Articles

Anthropology Plus: an excellent starting point for peer-reviewed scholarly works in Anthropology.

AnthroSource: Current issues of the American Anthropological Association's journals and bulletins, as well as archived issues of all the AAA's journals, newsletters and bulletins.

Annual Review of Anthropology: A Featured Journal on the Guide, that gives overviews of topics in anthropology, and developments in the scholarly research. Very helpful for finding more academic articles.

Article Databases in Related Disciplines [tab]: This tab features a bunch of useful databases (think of each as a miniature search engine) on different disciplines related to Anthropology. Search in these if you have an interdisciplinary topic that intersects with Anthropology, e.g. PubMed for medicine.

ARG > Ethnographies

eHRAF World Cultures: Contains ethnographic collections, organized by regions, subregions, and cultures, covering all aspects of cultural and social life, on hundreds of groups of people from around the world.

Keyword Search Tips

Avoid the 'Google sentence' when searching in a database. Databases interpret searches more literally than Google, so start with 1-2 keywords. Add more words to refine a large list of results.

In most databases, "Quotation marks" around words searches for the words in that "exact phrase sequence," e.g. "ethnographic fieldwork." Quotes work best on short (2-3 word) and common terms.

Asterisk "*" searches every ending to a word, so *market** finds market -er, -ed, -ing, and -s.

AND = fewer results. Example: marriage AND ritual ← both terms must be in each result.

OR = more results. Example: marriage OR ritual ← only one term must be in each result.

 UC-eLinks Finds and links out to full-text articles in other UCI-licensed databases, OR it directs you to a form to request via Inter Library Loan (ILL requires having a UCInetID/password.)

Database Search Examples ...

Anthropology Plus – Anthropological Literature from Harvard, Anthropological Index from the Royal Anthropological Institute. Coverage is from the late 19th century to the present.

The screenshot shows the EBSCOhost search interface for Anthropology Plus. At the top, the search query is "mexican immigrants AND ethnograph*". A red arrow points to the "Choose Databases" link with the annotation "Include other databases in your search". Below the search bar, there are options for "Basic Search", "Advanced Search", and "Search History", with a red arrow pointing to "Search History" and the annotation "Previous searches in this session".

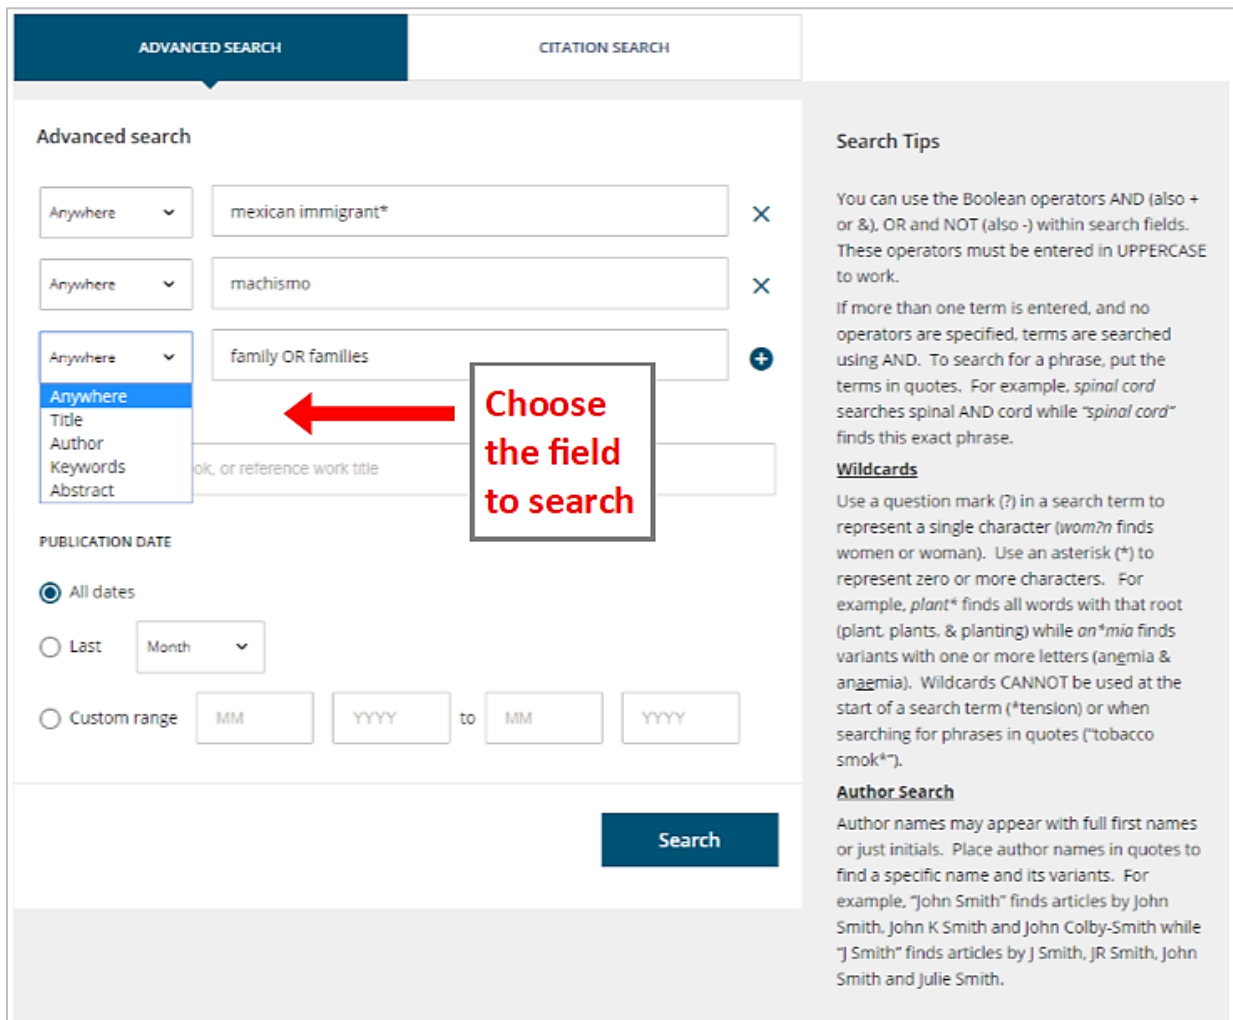

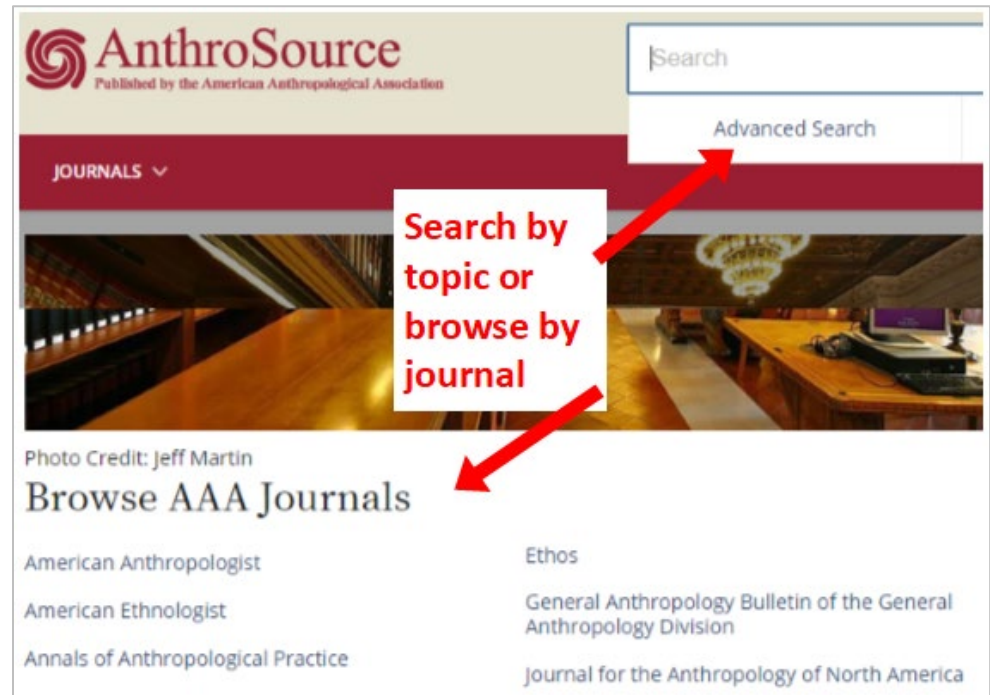

On the left side, the "Refine Results" panel is visible. It includes a "Current Search" section showing the Boolean/Phrase: "mexican immigrants AND ethnograph*". Below that is a "Limit To" section with a "Linked Full Text" checkbox. A date range filter is set from 1970 to 2014. Under "Source Types", "Academic Journals (27)" is selected. The "Language" section shows "english (3)" and "spanish (1)".

The main search results area displays "Search Results: 1 - 10 of 27". Three results are visible:

- 1. Undocumented migration to the United States and the wages of Mexican immigrants

Subjects: Immigrants; Leisure; Work; Sport; Dancing; Sexual behaviour;

Red arrows point from the "Subject terms can be added to your search" annotation to the subject lines of the first two results. Another red arrow points from the "Options for full-text" annotation to the "Linked Full Text" option for the second result.

AnthroSource – Current & archived issues of the American Anthropological Association's journals, newsletters, and bulletins

The screenshot shows the AnthroSource search results page. On the left, there are three filter sections: 'Journals' with a count of 132, 'Subjects' with a list of disciplines and counts, and 'Published in' with a list of journals and counts. The 'Subjects' and 'Published in' sections are highlighted with yellow boxes. At the top right, a 'Sort by: Relevance' dropdown is also highlighted with a yellow box. The main content area displays three search results, each with a title, author, journal information, and publication date. The first result is 'Enacting Ethos, Enacting Health: Realizing Health in the Everyday Life of a California Family of Mexican Descent' by Linda C. Garro. The second is 'Class, Ethnicity, and the Family in Contemporary Society' by Gladis Kaufman Rody and Barbara J. Bilge. The third is 'Voices of Our Past: Using Oral History to Explore Funds of Knowledge within a Puerto Rican Family' by Irma M. Olmedo. Each result includes a 'Full Access' or 'Free Access' icon and a 'UC-eLinks' link.

Paragraph

Several purely social gatherings were also held during the school year. A great deal of cultural data were gathered through participant observation, class activities, and from conversations on a wide range of topics. Because three low-income Anglos and three Blacks (from outside the barrio) were members of the class, I also had a chance to observe inter-ethnic interaction patterns. When we left the barrio in late December 1972, the continuing G.E.D. classes (which lasted through the following May) helped ease the finality of our departure.
