

UCI Physics Faculty Toshi Tajima awarded the 2019 APS R. Wilson Prize (APS, Denver, April 14, 2019)

2019 Robert R. Wilson Prize for Achievement in the Physics of Particle Accelerators Recipient

Toshiki Tajima University of California, Irvine

Citation:

"For the invention and leading the first realization of laser wakefield acceleration, which opened the way to compact acceleration applications such as ultrafast radiolysis, brilliant x-rays, intra-operative radiation therapy, wakefield beam dump, and high energy cosmic acceleration."

https://www.aps.org/programs/honors/prizes/prizerecipient.cfm?first_nm=Toshiki&last_nm=Tajima&year=2019

At the Wilson Prize Lecture (APS, Denver)

With Professor Y.K. Kim (U. Chicago and Fermilab) and Dr. M. Minty (Brookhaven National Lab)

From the airplane to Denver
A Waka poem (April 13, 2019)

「朝焼けに
白峰輝く
吾（あ）を迎ふ
巖（いわを）絨毯
会議に誘（いざな）ふ」

“Morning-shone mountains
With glittering snowwhite caps
Welcome me on board
To the Denver APS
Over rocky deep-etched carpets”

Toshi Tajima April 13, 2019

